Field of the Invention The invention relates to a method for producing a switch device, and more particularly to a method for producing a switch device having a dome switch element. 2. Description of the Related Art Japanese Utility Model Application Laid-Open No. Hei 3-104119 discloses a device in which a dome-shaped switch element is positioned in the upper portion of a hollow casing. portion of the casing when the casing is turned down. The casing is provided with first and second projecting portions in the vicinity of the periphery of the casing, respectively. The projecting portions are brought into contact with each other when the casing is turned down. In this manner, the casing is supported at the periphery thereof. However, the switch element is resiliently deformed such that the contact portion is brought into contact with the contact element, which is made of an elastic material. As a result, the switch element is often deformed under the influence of the pressure acting on the contact portion during the production of the casing and the contact portions are deformed. This may result in contact failure between the switch element and the contact element. The invention was completed in view of the above situation and aims at providing a method for producing a switch device having a dome 82157476af
